

Bankruptcy & Creditors Rights

A number of attorneys in the firm are heavily involved in areas of bankruptcy litigation and creditors rights and have been recognized for their expertise in these areas by their peers on local, state and national levels. Creditors rights may involve foreclosures, recovery of collateral or leased equipment, or litigation to enforce and collect debt obligations. As Georgia law is unique in these areas, it is essential that a creditor have knowledgeable and experienced attorneys who are familiar with the intricacies of Georgia law.

Representation of creditors frequently leads to representation in the context of a bankruptcy filing. Lawyers with Bouhan Falligant regularly represent creditors and trustees in both large and small bankruptcies. The firm is experienced in all aspects of bankruptcy litigation, including issues such as preferences and fraudulent transfers, dischargeability, use of cash collateral, stay violations and asset sales. Lawyers in the firm have also represented debtors in significant Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases.

The firm is dedicated to solving problems and has a history of reaching successful resolutions for its clients, both in and out of court.