

Construction Law

Bouhan Falligant attorneys have the expertise to handle the broad range of issues that builders, subcontractors, suppliers, and owners may encounter in construction. Our attorneys are well equipped to meet our clients' needs in protecting their interests and managing risks.

Through our firm's multidisciplinary approach, our construction law practice group draws from the knowledge and experience of other practice areas to offer clients the most comprehensive service. Whether the matter is related to project financing, contracts, regulatory compliance, professional negligence claims or commercial litigation, our attorneys have the experience to handle it.

Our construction law practice experience ranges from handling complex litigation to assisting businesses with the filing and defense of liens, breaches of contract, landlord/tenant issues as well as general civil litigation. Our clients include contractors and subcontractors, architects, engineers, developers, lenders and property owners. Some of our services include:

- Construction Contract Claims and Disputes
- Construction Defect Claims
- Construction Accidents
- Civil Litigation
- Land Use
- Liens, including Mechanic's Liens and Materialmen's Liens
- Landlord/Tenant Issues
