

New law strengthens power of attorney rules

If you were suddenly unable to speak or write for the next few weeks or even months, what would your financial situation look like?

Have you designated someone to manage your affairs if you become incapacitated from a stroke, accident or other long-term illness?

Click here to read original article.