

Products Liability

Bouhan Falligant defends the interests of product manufacturers, distributors and sellers, both insured and self-insured. Our experience includes defending products ranging from consumer goods and medical devices to construction equipment and heavy truck trailers. We are national counsel on products liability matters for the Truck Trailer Manufacturers Association. We counsel clients on regulatory compliance, recalls, and warnings issues. We investigate major accidents, and we respond to claims of product defect, whether through claims negotiation or mediation, or through discovery and trial. In local and statewide jurisdictions, our lawyers have successfully defended claims against manufacturers of child strollers, portable generators, hospital and dental equipment, cranes and aerial lifts. Nationally, we are known for our defense of manufacturers of truck trailers and truck equipment. We have also served as local counsel in major products liability lawsuits filed in Georgia and in multidistrict litigation managed under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
